ABOUT THE INSTITUTE ON EDUCATION LAW AND POLICY AT RUTGERS SCHOOL OF LAW - NEWARK

The Institute on Education Law and Policy at Rutgers School of Law-Newark is New Jersey's premier center for interdisciplinary research and innovative thinking on education policy. Its mission is to promote education reform and improvement through research, policy analysis and public discussion; to mobilize lawyers, scholars, and education practitioners to address complex and controversial issues in education law and policy in a comprehensive, in-depth manner; to improve public understanding of those issues; and to be a center for learning and innovative thinking about legal and public policy issues relating to education. Issues affecting New Jersey's urban students and educators are the Institute's primary focus, but those issues are addressed in the context of the state's wide diversity and with an eye toward their ramifications for the nation as a whole.

EDUCATION LAW & POLICY INSTITUTE

SHAPING SCHOOL LEADERS TO FACE LEGAL CHALLENGES:

For close to 25 years, The Foundation for Educational Administration (FEA) has offered school leaders the latest in professional development. Now, FEA is targeting the biggest concerns of school leaders--how to make correct decisions, while minimizing legal implications.

Beginning October, 2005, FEA and the Institute on Education Law & Policy at Rutgers School of Law - Newark, will open the doors to the "Education Law & Policy Institute".

This Institute is the ONLY ONE of its kind in New Jersey! It promises to take the mystery out of education law and policy and give school leaders an opportunity for high-level, intensive study of the legal and policy questions facing every educator today.

LEARN FROM TOP EXPERTS IN THE FIELD:

Participants will learn from top experts in education law and policy. Instructors include Professor Paul L. Tractenberg of Rutgers School of Law-Newark, a nationally recognized leader in education law and Founding Director of the Institute on Education Law & Policy at Rutgers School of Law - Newark; Brenda C. Liss, Executive Director of the Institute on Education Law & Policy at Rutgers School of Law - Newark; and NJPSA attorneys Robert M. Schwartz, Wayne J. Oppito and David Nash. Combined these instructors possess over 100 years of experience in education law.

COMPREHENSIVE AND HANDS-ON:

Sessions will be interactive and embrace various aspects of education law and policy. Participants will engage in "real-life" school situations and in depth analysis. User-friendly course materials will be incorporated for future reference.

Upon completion, participants will have an increased knowledge of education law, a solid framework for decision-making and the ability to engage in informed analysis of policy choices.

PROFESSIONAL RECOGNITION:

Upon completion, each participant will receive from The Institute a "Rutgers-FEA Certificate of Completion" in School Law & Policy.
